Dearest Tracy -

Another year has slipped by us, and it's funny, you and I always seem to survive. Maybe it's because we have French together. I don't know.
Have a great summer, work hard, party hard,
and I really hope I'll see you over the summer.
Don't do anything that I wouldn't do, which doesn't limit you too, too much.

Take care, and I will bump into you sometime this summer, RIGHT?

Much Love

GARY

 to know we get better each other. Don't forget Riley and all these from reports we ended up doing at the last minute! Well wife to see you next summer and of course Good Luck -
 Pam Edgar '80

Tracy
 I'm very glad that I have met
 you. I think we had a great time during 1st hour and it's too bad that we didn't have any more classes together.
 Have a great summer and even better senior year.

Mark

Tracy

 forward to next year as much as I am. It's been really really real.
 Enjoy the summer.

Thank you TP

Tracy, I hope you didn't mind all the teasing about the dress you wore that one day. When the chance comes to be crazy I take it.
 It's really been a super year especially in the theater. Don't let Randy get out of hand over the summer. Chances are

One of the most creative ways students vented their energies this year, was through the different aspects of the Art Department. From ceramic pots to still-life paintings, Mrs. Jensen, Mr. Spitzer, and Mrs. Montgomery guided art students to create to their best abilities. Mrs. Stiebe did an excellent job filling in for Mrs. Montgomery until January. Through the uses of imagination and constructive ability, students were given the opportunity to develop their own project and work in a more informal manner than the conventional text books and tests necessary for other classes.

Adams' own "Music Man", Mr. Simmons, once again offered musically inclined students the opportunity to join one or more of his highly successful band classes. Concert Band, Symphony Band, Wind Ensemble and the Marching Band, all performed excellently in their concerts. It was obvious that all the band classes, including the Jazz Band conducted by Mr. Goldsworthy, put in many hours of hard work and diligent practice. Mr. Simmons and Mr. Goldsworthy, and all of the bands deserved much respect.

The Board of Education met twice a month to discuss major issues concerning Adams, and all of the other Rochester schools. Because the millage was not passed last summer, they were forced to make cuts in the budget, and cut out many extra-curricular activities. Mrs. Monks, the president, and the other members worked hard to make as few curriculum cuts as possible, and to keep the school system something to be proud of.

The building administration of 1978-1979 had two new members. Mr. Jack Comstock, came from Phoenix, Arizona. In very short time, he proved himself to be well-liked by both students and faculty.

Dr. Jerry Freeman was also a new administrator this year, although he taught English here the year before. He received his doctorate just the previous summer and Adams was honored to have him as vice-principal.

Mr. Keith Griffin was a teacher at West Junior High, and came to Adams as vice-principal two years ago.

The Business Department had one of the most well-rounded curriculums at Adams this year. The business classes trained a student for entry into the business world, and also provided on the job experience.

Medical Secretary was a popular course again this year. Mr. Fliss taught the laboratory work, while Mrs. Schmitz enlightened students on business skills.

Co-op was another sought after class. Students worked part of the school day in some sort of office, while earning school credit for it.

Besides these courses, typing, speedwriting, and a host of others were offered.

Every day when we got to school, it was sparkling clean. The floors were swept, the rooms were straightened, and the blackboards were cleaned. By eleven a.m., most of the students were ravenously hungry. They went to the cafeteria and ate. But did anyone stop to think how the cafeteria food got there? The custodians and cooks were here early, to get the school ready for the students. These devoted people worked hard and long during the school year, and we owe them a lot for their services.

Guiding us through another successful year at Adams High School, were the counselors. Mr. Parks, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Bogard, and Mr. Kemp worked hard all year in helping students with their problems, careers, schedules and other activities. Mr. Dunn did part-time counseling at the semester break this year, adding to the already efficient staff.

A few activities that they were a part of were;

College Night, scheduling, assemblies, testing, and of course parent teacher conferences! What would we have done without them? They were a very important part of our accomplishments here at Adams.

So ended another year of English. Adams, noted for its exceptional English Department, had far more classes to offer than most high school programs.

Among the newer English classes was Project Advance, initiated last year by Mrs. Mallon. This class, taught on a college level, was worth six credits at colleges and universities nation wide. Such a class was a great opportunity for serious English students.

The variety of 10-week and semester courses made choosing English classes interesting and easy.

Here at Adams High School, foreign language was a big challenge. There were four different languages to choose from this year. These included; French, German, Spanish, and Russian.

In the past four years the Language Department has come a long way. The foreign language staff included; Mrs. Snow, Mrs. Lintz, Mr. Pazevic, Mrs. Nash, and Mrs. Bickleman.

Not only did students learn to speak the language, but they also learned the culture of the country.

The teachers made the work fun by having extra activities, like singing and dancing.

Whether it was cake decorating or designing your own clothes, the Home Economics Department offered students a chance to express their creative talents. But Home Ec. wasn't just cooking and sewing, the economic survival class, taught by Mrs. Long, showed students how to manage on their own. The child development class was a two hour block which ran its own nursery.

Highland House once again, had another successful year under the supervision of Mrs. Fisk. A competent and hardworking staff was a major factor in the Highland House success.

Found a good book? Looked for some information? The library had it all, with the help of Mrs. Green, and Mrs. Johnston. They worked hard all day, keeping the library orderly and running smoothly. Encyclopedias, non-fiction, and reference material, were many of the books that aided students with their homework, and if they couldn't find what they were looking for, the librarians were always glad to assist. Another helpful person in connection with the library, was Mrs. Sharp. She was the lady who scheduled and organized movies, tapes and videos, for our use.

Math was considered a challenge, especially in Mr. Pasbjerg's class. Ask any calculus student what a challenge was, and you'll be sure to hear a good descriptive word for this difficult course.

For many, the sophomore year was filled with Geometry, and those good old proofs. Then came Algebra Two, and story problems. Mr. Steven Tumppser, our student teacher in Mrs. Delaune's room, had a true knack for those. The math courses at Adams were certainly challenging, but then, so were the teachers!!

The Northeast Oakland Vocational Education Center, or NEOVEC, once again provided an opportunity for students to learn a technical skill not offered at Adams. Courses new to NEOVEC included, extended day welding, health occupations, and marine utility vehicle repair. The food service program, which catered meals to senior citizens, received a new addition, increasing the size of its restaurant five times. Besides teaching technical skills, NEOVEC's student support services and job placement program added up to an excellent year for the ninety Adams students enrolled.

This year at Adams, the physical education staff got their classes more than semi-tough! They got their classes in shape and had fun doing it.

The staff members included; Mr. Seeman, Mr.

Neidswiecki, Mrs. Sicora, and Miss Guillame. One new teacher joined the staff — Ms. Craven. She taught last year for the last semester.

This area offered a numerous amount of classes, anywhere from weight conditioning, water dynamics, to the regular sports, like tennis, volleyball, etc. . . . The gym classes were larger this year than they have ever been. The teachers have done a great job.

Adams students were proud to know that they had such a diverse science program this year. Biology was the only required course, but many students took advantage of the tremendous variety of classes offered. Students could have taken Physiology, Pathology, Entomology, or perhaps Astronomy, besides the many others available.

The science staff was bolstered with the addition of two new Biology teachers; Mr. Rustowicz, and Mr. Zelmanski.

One of the most important, but least recognized parts of our school, were the counseling, attendance, and main office secretaries. They formed a tie between the administrators and the student body.

Among the many duties of the secretaries were; running the switchboard, keeping the many records straight; administering first-aid, making appointments, mailing and receiving college information, and answering the telephones.

One of the many things that Adams students had to be thankful for this year, was the complex equipment essential to construction of projects in the Shop classes. Wood Shop, Metal Shop, Rough Carpentry, and Drafting were popular components of our industrial arts program. Mr. Orchard, Mr. Lawrence, and Mr. Schmidt played an important role in introducing interested students to the many ways they could, take an idea on paper and turn it into a reality. The three teachers did an excellent job through their constructive criticism, and support, which helped provide an educational year for many.

Social Science was one of the larger departments at Adams. This years social science required courses brought the Juniors more knowledge of America, through American History I, II, and III. The Seniors were more informed of how the U.S. Government operated, through the courses Government I, and II. The Seniors also held their annual political convention.

Along with the required classes, the Social Science Department had many classes for students interested in other aspects of history.

There was; Russian History, History of World Wars, Psychology, and many, many others.

The faculty of the department did an outstanding job this year.

The Adams High Vocal Music Department took on new dimensions this year with the arrival of Mr. Timothy Lentz as director. Also joining the Concert Choir was the new Treble Show Choir. Among both choirs activities last year were, the Thanksgiving, Christmas, Winter, and Spring concerts, and participation in the District Choral Festival, the spring musical, and the graduation ceremonies. The 1978-79 school year will be remembered as a rewarding and fulfilling one, not only by Mr. Lentz and all the band choirs, but by everyone fortunate enough to hear them.

The work study program at Adams was designed to continue the education of students who prefer jobs to a full class schedule. Mr. Summerhayes served as head of the program. The students attended classes from eight a.m., to noon, studying subjects geared to the individual students level. Every other marking period, the students were required to work full-time. Not only did the student's enroll in the work study program continue their education and gain job experience, they also earned pay for their efforts.

The Cross Country team had a lot of enthusiasm and potential runners. This year's team had only one returning varsity runner, Greg Wiest.

What the team lacked for in experience, they made up for in spirit. After school one could see the Adams Cross Country team running down many of the roads in Rochester. The team now knows all of the back roads, thanks to Coach Gierke.

The team was led by Senior Rob Randolph. Randolph was the only runner from Adams who went to State competition. Other fine performances were turned in by: Senior Chris Reagan, and Sophomore Dave Taylor.

For the first time in Highland history, there were girls on the team. This year there wasn't a girls team, because of lack of enough girls. Hopefully, next year there will be separate teams.

The Adams Golf team did extremely well this year. The team proved that hard work really did pay off. They placed first in the Class A Golf title. The overall record for the season, was 10 and 3.

Coach Pasbjerg was really pleased with the performance of this year's team. He felt that every member of the team had winning attitudes, which helped bring the team many victories.

The team this year ended fantastic performances, by being State Champions. Junior Greg Manning was a medalist. Along with Manning, excellent performances were turned in by: Senior Ray Green, Junior Kirk Graves, and Sophomore Wade Stevenson. Next year's team will have three of the top four players returning.

The girls had an up and down season this year. Though it wasn't the 10-1 season of last year, this season was sparked by the outstanding victory over Rochester. In that meet, the girls originally lost, but were awarded the win when the officials' decision to disqualify the backstrokers was reversed. Other highlights were: Junior Kathy Krull, who qualified for the State Championships in five events, and Cathy Schmitz, Junior, who qualified in two events. Senior contributors were: Terrie Finston in diving, Pam Schmitz in backstroke, and all purpose swimmer, Carolyn Crabtree.

The tennis team of '79 proved to be a winning team this year. They came through with second place in regionals and qualified for State. The number one player in singles was, Nancy Golding, who illustrated her ability on our tennis team for the past three years. Liz Sutherland, our Junior player, showed a great amount of ability as well, for she was second in singles. Our number one doubles players were, Kathy Rhoton, and Annette Brown. They deserve much recognition, as well as the rest of the team, for their outstanding performances. Mrs. Hunt, the girls tennis coach, has helped the team greatly, even though this was her first year coaching here at Adams.

The girls basketball team pulled through with another exciting season. They had many practices and many hard working triumphs. This year's group of players put forth a terrific effort, with the help of three top players. They were: Kathy Gordon, Jenny Shawver, and Molly Todd. Juniors that showed tremendous drive were: Joanne Hopp and Rita Snow. Behind this super team was coach, Jim Shawver, who coached for the first time at Adams.

The 1979 track team began regular practices early in March. Students spent a couple of hours each school day working hard to get in shape and perfect their techniques. Many got a head start by participating in the winter conditioning program, which met after school, starting in January. They ran outside when the weather permitted it, and through the school hallways when the weather was too bad.

The team was made up of Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors. The runners were coached by Mr. Bud Cicciarelli. Everyone worked hard and put forth their best efforts to make this team a great success.

The girls golf team is hoping for a good season with four returning players: Jolayne Johnston, Becky Johnson, Sue Tranzow, and Monica Potere. The team also has three new Juniors, Sarah Jackson, Amy Farrell, and Marylyn McGarry. There are no Sophomores or Seniors on the team this year. Coach Lenore Tally says there are sixteen matches and one invitational scheduled. She hopes to win the regionals and go on to State with her team, as last year's did.

This year as in last, the boys tennis team was coached by Mr. Jim Taylor. Returning Juniors and Seniors, gave the team the needed experience, while the Sophomores added depth. The team started practicing in March, which included running in the halls after school, and working on perfecting their serves. The Adams team ran against some stiff competition this year, and proved they were prepared for the challenge. The tough competition proved only to be a minor obstacle for the Highlanders. The Highlanders have a reputation for having quality tennis players and having a team with good sportsmanship.

A schedule containing nearly five games a week has kept the Adams Varsity baseball players hopping. Coach John Guerreri's team opened their season on April 25, and competed in a total of 24 regular season games.

The Highlanders were led by senior co-captains Tim Dillon and Kris Kuhn. Other returning lettermen instrumental in Adams success included: Scott Barnaby, Paul Cracknell, Scott Harris, Mark Jackson, Tom Scally and Steve Valentine. An overall 23-9 record compiled by last year's team is what the 1979 Highlander club has attempted to improve on. With much of the previous season's players back in action, Adams nine have their sights set on statewide recognition. According to Coach Guerreri, "If every kid produces to his potential, we should be able to repeat as league champs and do even better!"

Wrestling was a challenging sport, but the Adams wrestlers proved they could handle it another year. Much strategy and concentration were necessary to keep them on top. With guidance from their coach, Mr. Bailo, the wrestlers and their captains, Paul Cracknell, and Dan Burgess, Dave Fagan, and Keith Masters, everyone involved had a great season. Some of the outstanding wrestlers were: Keith Masters, Richard Thompson, Dan Burgess, Paul Cracknell, Ted Jacob, Dave Walsh, Jeff Omans, and Dave Fagan.

The boys swim team had a very successful season. One of our swimmers, Shawn Wery, qualified for State in the 100 yard breast stroke. Along with Shawn, the other top swimmers were: Nick Cupaurito, Randy Scherer, and Jeff Taylor. As for the members who dove into the team, we saw Rob Nani, Tom Jones and Joe Gingras. The Juniors showed great potential during the season, which proved we will have another winning team. Denny Seeman, who has been the swim coach for two years, should be given credit for his effort, as well as his time with the team.

The girls volleyball team was hard at work again this year. After school approximately fifteen girls could be seen practicing their serve and spike techniques. The team practiced for one and a half hours, five days a week.

Leading the team were two captains, Senior, Kathy McCurdy, and Junior, Ritta Snow. A new addition to the team was Coach Hunt. She felt that a lot of effort was put into each game, which brought about a very successful season.

From early November until the end of February, the Adams ski team could be heard "praying to the great god Bamboda" for snow. Daily after school, members were seen heading for the slopes of Pine Knob. The team was under the supervision of Coach Carl Pasbjerg. The team did an excellent job, turning in many good times.

The gymnastics team was coached by two new coaches this year, Coach Tischler and Tolzdorf.

The girls worked from October until March, perfecting their routines on the balance beam, floor, vault and uneven bars.

Sue Zukowski was the only Senior on the team this year. Kerrie Hulbert, Marty Kruckegurg, Dorothy Lilly, Gayle Kastner, Kasey Rowe, Lori Tompor, and Pam Reidinger, were also involved. New additions to the team were: Heidi Schult, Audrey Bettinin, Jill Shepard, Jill Kobus, Mary Lynn Moran, Bea Hickey, Cindy Demerino, Renee Schick, Connie MacIntire and Julie Tischler.

The Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders had a new sponsor this year, Beth Eschrich. The squad consisted of eight girls but decreased to six.

The girls on the squad were Senior and Captain Cathy Crossman, and Cathy Gay, juniors Cindy Rimarcik, and Donna Poulin, Jenny Orchard, Kristi Gay, sophomores Shannon Jacov and Shelli Reidinger.

The girls tried hard to keep the crowds spirit up which was not easy.

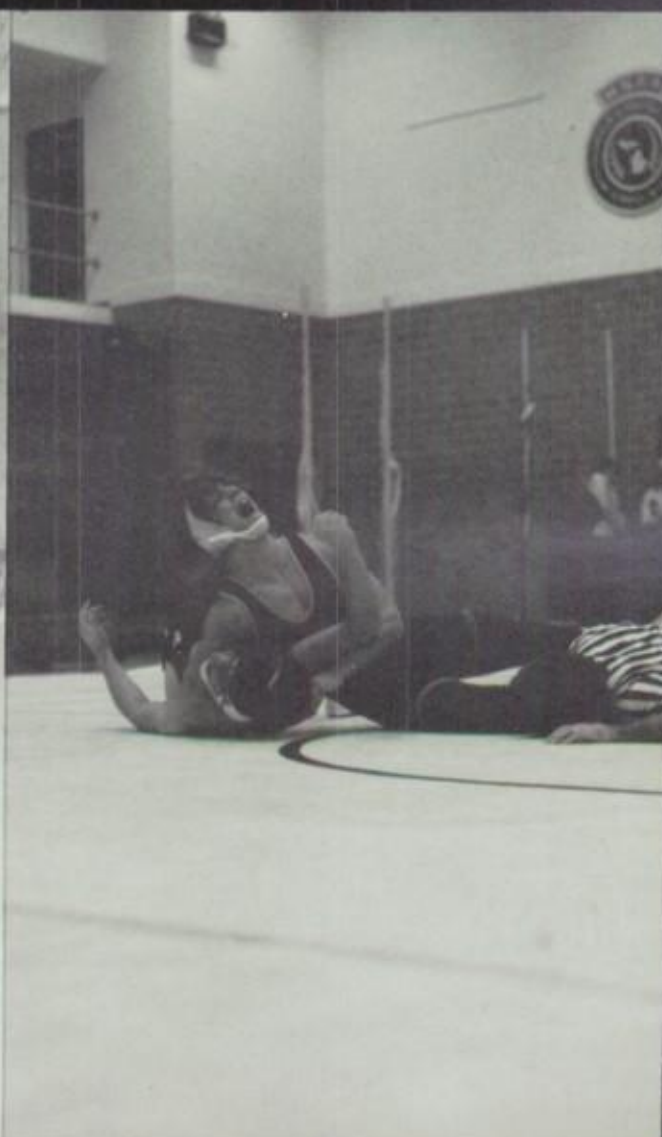

Adams varsity basketball team added an extra dimension during their 1978-1979 campaign. The elimination of junior varsity sports enabled four sophomores to earn a spot on Coach Dale Orchard's squad.

The Highlanders met up with some stiff competition, but worked together to try to win the game.

Seniors Mike McNamera and Tim Dillon served as co-captains for the team. Dillon led the Highlanders in scoring, and also in stealing. McNamera grabbed the most rebounds, and displayed an intense brand of defense.

Behind the scenes for the Highlanders, were Mr. Clevenger, and Matt Brown. Clevenger assisted Coach Orchard, while Brown served as the student manager.

The Varsity football team had a more successful season this year, breaking their losing streak with a win early in the season. The players practiced long and hard to try and win for Adams. Keep up the good work!

DIRECTORS

The assemblies of '78 - 79 were enjoyable this year for the students at Adams. This years' assemblies consisted of our homecoming week, a Christmas assembly with all the trimmings, and several pep assemblies. Our own Adams Choir sang their traditional "Fruitcake" song while Santa Freeman distributed presents to the retired Adams Faculty. Many students got involved at the Mime assembly. The student council rented the movie "Murder by Death" on Halloween for the students to view. All in all, the assemblies provided a needed break from class schedules, whether to promote school spirit or just plain old entertainment.

Senior B.G. Bowl players stung the Juniors with a 16-14 victory this year during homecoming week, to maintain their reputation by winning two years in a row.

Both Junior and Senior teams started practicing at least four weeks before the big game. Plays were learned, running was stressed, they went through drills, but most of all they ran! Coaches on both sides worked hard to make their teams the best, and their help was greatly appreciated. The two teams were tough, but the Seniors pulled it off by the same score as last year.

In the words of Senior Head Coach Steve Odonnell, "The Juniors said that they had more spirit, talent and determination, but we had more points!"

The main objective of dances at Adams was for everyone to get a chance to get out and have a good time. Dances, as in the past, also gave classes and other organizations a chance to raise money for their activities.

In the spring, Adams held the third annual dance marathon for muscular dystrophy. Adams students once again showed what they were made of, with many of the dancers completing the twenty-two hours. All involved should be commended for a job well done.

Whether it was an after game dance or the grueling twenty-two hours of the marathon, everyone just wanted to get out with friends and have a good time.

There were several plays put on this year by international and prospective Thespian members. The students put a lot of work into building sets, making costumes, and rehearsing. With the help of Ms. Gibson and Mr. Lentz, they succeeded in putting on very impressive performances.

The first production of the year was two one act plays by Woody Allen, called "God" and "Death". These comedies attracted a large audience which helped greatly in the financing of the drama "Look Homeward Angel", which was presented a couple of months later.

Juan Magay is 16 years old, a junior and comes from Madrid, Spain. In the U.S. he lives on Gunn Road with the Updegraffs. He enjoys snow skiing, and swimming in his spare time. He also plays the accordion and likes to build models.

Jeff Tan comes from Quezov City, in the Phillippines. He lives with the Stoloruck family on Dutton Drive. Jeff is 17 years old and a senior. When he's not busy with schoolwork, he goes to football and basketball games. He also said he likes parties.

(Jim) Dimitrios Bougatsos is a senior and 18 years old. He lives on Allston Drive with the Saxon family. He comes from Thessaloniki, in Greece. Jim likes to listen to music and lift weights. He also likes tennis and girls. He said he wants to stay here in the U.S. after he graduates.

Hinrich Krohn is 16 years old, and comes from Hamburg, Germany. He is in the 11th grade and lives on Leyton Court with the Grimes. Hinrich likes to sail, swim, read and play volleyball. He also plays the flute in the Symphonic and Marching Bands. He said when he returns to Germany, he is planning to sail from Finland to Portugal with his uncle.

Commercials was the theme for homecoming this year. The homecoming week, better known as spirit week, started out with the wearing of class colors. At lunch was the ice cream eating contest with the seniors winning at all three lunch hours. This was also the day of the B.G. Bowl game. The seniors won 16-14. Tuesday was miss match day. At lunch was the toilet paper wrapping contest, with the seniors winning two out of the three lunch hours. Wednesday was college t-shirt day with the jazz band playing at lunch. Thursday was dress up as your idol day, with the cracker eating contest at lunch. Friday was the day of the assembly. The spirit yell was won by the juniors. In the skits, all the classes showed a lot of talent, but the seniors came out in front. Then they went on to finish their not yet completed floats.

Saturday was game day. Despite the 34-15 loss, not many of the fans' spirits were dampened. At half-time, Kathy Rhoton and Dave Fagan were announced as Homecoming Queen and King, respectively. The seniors won the float contest, with their "Gotcha" razor blade float.

Saturday night was the dance, with Adrenalin as the band.

All of the classes put forth a lot of effort to make that homecoming live up to its theme, "For the times of your life."

Unlike previous years, this year's registration passed with few difficulties. The administration was successful in its attempt to simplify the process by instituting a new system. Under the new system, name cards were handed out to students, which they then exchanged for class cards. This made sure that students wouldn't be pulling cards for others. There were problems, as always, but this is the price we must pay for the elective system. In all, this year was dramatic improvement from last year.

The 1978 - 79 school year was filled with a wide variety of both national and local happenings. Cult suicides in Guyana and the Summit Meetings were recognized throughout the world. On a local level, Michigan introduced a can and bottle return, while Rochester voters faced a millage renewal.

Ron Guidry led the Yankees to another championship and Woody Hayes punched himself out of a job, to headline the sports scene. Muhammed Ali regained his heavyweight title while Michigan State's Spartans ridded themselves of NCAA probation.

The past year was scarred by some unhappy events. A plane crash near San Diego registered as one of the U.S.'s worst. Nelson Rockefeller departed from politics, dying at the age of 70. Raising of the drinking age from 18 to 21 caused great concern for Michigan teenagers, state wide.

Newspapers were jammed with articles on Chinese Deputy Prime Minister Teng's visit to America. Stories on a test tube baby and the Vatican City's Popes also received front page recognition.

The entertainment world was headed by movie favorites, "Animal House", "Superman", and "Grease". ABC's "Mork and Mindy", became televisions' top comedy. A comeback by the Rolling Stones and a pair of albums by Billy Joel enabled them to sweep the charts in music.

An important aspect of the theatre arts program at Adams is Troupe 2163 chartered by the International Thespian Society. (I.T.S. is an international organization for secondary schools from all of the United States and Canada.) Students qualify for International by participating in school productions and thus earning points toward membership. Troupe 2163 began the year in September with 27 International members and 50 apprentices with hopes for attaining membership. Some of these apprentices will fall by the wayside, but a large number will have earned their points by spring, by working in this year's productions, and will have been initiated as qualified members of the International Thespian Society.

This year's officers for Troupe 2163 were; Beth Dettman, president, Rob Jones, vice-president of production, Ben Vernia, vice-president of Budget, and Mathilde Brown, vice-president of Management. Sponsors were Beverly Gibson and Timothy Lentz.

ANNOUNCERS

Couldn't get the car to get school supplies? It was no problem. The Amble Inn had everything you needed, and more. You didn't have to worry about not being prepared for class. They had supplies as well as records, cards, jewelry, and a candy counter. The main goal for this year was to better their jewelry and candy departments.

The Amble Inn was sponsored by Mr. Rosenberg, and run by 14 seniors and 8 juniors. The students really enjoyed running the store and working under the supervision of Mr. Rosenberg. The Amble Inn was open during all lunch hours, for the convenience of the students.

The sixth grade students of various elementary schools were counseled by a select group of Adams seniors. Mr. Griffin selected the students with decent grades, who were seniors, and who had a recommendation from a counselor or teacher.

The sixth graders participated in events such as; sledding, skating, ice fishing, nature walks, square dancing, and a myriad of others. The students were introduced to the sport of archery, and air rifles. Each person also had to keep a log of daily events.

The counselors thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Sue Beane and Matt Marsom remarked, "The program was well organized and a very memorable experience for the counselors and kids. It was a nice change from the normal school routine."

To most students, Distributive Education Co-op was just another class. But to those who were a part of it, it was a chance to develop marketing, distribution, and management skills. These students took part in DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America), an organization which sponsored national, state, and local competitions.

Mr. Rosenberg, has in the past, served as head of the program at Adams. Hopefully, those involved got more out of DECA than just the competition, but the beginning of a successful career in the business world. All involved should be commended on a job well done.

Another year went by with the drill team sharing the field. Football season wouldn't have been the same without the Gold Dusters dancing to the music of the spirited Marching Band. The Captain out front with a smile, was Cyndi Behholz, the first lieutenant, Sally Dobats, and second lieutenant, Theresa Schell. Another important lady was their instructor, Mrs. Joan Allison. She played a great part in putting each show together.

This year the drill team received second place in the 1978 Christmas parade, and they also entered the competition at Rochester High, where teams from all over competed for a first place trophy. It was an exciting year.

Another successful contribution was made again this year by Judy Cieslik and Patti King. The girls, with the help of their classmates, painted the Highland House. One of the goals this year to better the Highland House was to get curtains to match.

The Highland House served between seventy and eighty customers a day. Besides serving the administrators and students, it also welcomed special interest groups, such as the R.A.R.A. and senior citizens.

Their new addition this year was a salad bar. Besides that you could get a variety of good meals at a reasonable price of ninety cents.

Mrs. Fisk taught her students the meaning of good quality of food and service. She also taught them the importance of working well with other people.

This year the Highlander Marching Band experienced one of their finest seasons. Besides giving some very successful halftime shows, the band developed many new techniques and skills. Their chants could be heard as they kicked-stepped into every home game.

Led by drum major Kellie Evans, assisted by Linda Stevens (Sir), the band performed at the Art and Apples festival on September 17th and participated in M.S.U. band day on September 23rd. On the practice field every morning at 6:45 A.M. the band perfected and performed drills, fanfares and dances.

The Highlander Marching Band is under the fine direction of Larry Simmons, and hopes to have many more successful seasons in the years to come.

This year the National Honor Society had taken part in many activities such as; a car wash, making a float for homecoming, a bake sale, dances, and they had a tutoring service for students who needed help in studying for their classes. Karen Barnes was in charge of the tutoring service, which took place almost every hour in the library.

This year's officers were; Doreen Murasky, president, Randy Scherer, vice-president, Karen Barnes, Treasurer, and Sue Danek as secretary.

The National Honor Society held meetings at least once a month during the ten minute break. They tried to accomplish as much as possible in such short time.

But in all, the National Honor Society did a good job in all of their activities.

The Student Council was involved in quite a few activities this year. One being the student exchange. They have done that for the past couple of years. Other activities were; a few dances, and participation in homecoming.

This year's officers were; Greg Buser, president, Jack Lawless, vice-president, Secretary, Shawn Miskee, and Treasurer, Marie Tessier.

There was also the addition of a juke box to the cafeteria, which could be played during lunch hours.

The third hour delegate idea originated in the Student Council, in hope to better the student body's awareness.

In all, our student council, with the help of their advisor, Mrs. Lintz, were able to accomplish much of what they wanted.

Every month two male students were selected for the rotary. These students were called Junior Rotarians of the month. They met the first Tuesday of every month from October to May.

These students were chosen by all of the counselors. They were not chosen for their popularity, but rather, for their being a good student to represent Adams. They met people who were the heads of businesses, companies, and observed them. The rotary gave them the opportunity to work with the local civic organizations. The rotary does this to keep in touch with today's youth.

The National Merit Scholarship Program included students who received exceptionally high scores on the PSAT/NMSQT test. The students who qualified, represented one half of one percent of all students in Michigan.

Under the Kilt, the school newspaper, has been labeled a success for another year.

The paper was published bi-monthly, by a combined staff of 26 students and their advisor, Mrs. Mastovich.

Editors from the past year included; Kim Fedak - News, Jim Burke - Editorial, Matt Marsom - Sports, and Carolyn Fox - Feature. The "Bringing up the Rear" page was co-edited by Sue Beane, Joan Delehanty, and Mary Sullivan. Jo Marie Chirco was Managing editor, responsible for the ads. Behind the scenes were photographer, Dan Brisson, and typists Michelle Cary, and Dian Hulverson.

Additional time was often spent on the paper after school, as Tuesday layouts always came too soon.

The Homecoming and Senior editions highlighted the class effort on nearly 20 papers.

Celebrating its tenth anniversary, Adams yearbook staff has attempted to make the 1979 book better than all of the rest.

Yearbook is a full year class offered to students during 4th hour. Class members were required to sell advertisements, design full layouts of pages, and most importantly, meet deadlines. A typical day consisted of cropping pictures, making headlines, transforming layouts to 3-R forms, or writing body copy.

This year's book was totally a group effort. Giving assistance and guidance to the class, was advisor in chief, Mr. Dave Berube. The co-editors behind the yearbook were Michelle Clair and Cathy Crossman. Business editor, Sue Beane, kept the books and was responsible for the ads. Karen Ozinga was responsible for the body copy layout. The pictures were supplied by Kevin Blomquist and his photography staff. The majority of the class was composed of seniors with little previous experience.

A new theme and a layout variation made this year's book unique. Movies, was selected as the theme, and was carried throughout the book. The 1979 book has done away with tradition of including body copies on the page it represents. Body copy is a few paragraphs summarizing an activity, event or club. These summaries will be grouped together, to provide more pictures per page.

We hope you enjoy the 1979 yearbook. It took a lot of hard work to make it all possible.

STARS

At last the class of '79 has made it through the final year of high school. For some, the year was filled with books to be read and papers to be written, and for others, it was filled with Home Ec. and early dismissal! But however the year was spent, it was a memorable one for all.

A change in administrative staff, while not uncommon, established two new building administrators at Adams. Jack Comstock was principal, while Mr. Freeman and Mr. Griffin were vice-principals. These men dealt efficiently with problems and student activities. One of the major problems this year, was the strict attendance policy. Students complained, and the policy was revised.

The Senior Class participated body and soul during spirit week, winning many of the contests during the lunch hours. The senior girls B.G. Bowl team defeated the Juniors to retain their championship, and the senior float also came out #1. With such spirit and determination, it was no wonder that the seniors won spirit week with a whopping victory.

M&M's were sold to help pay for graduation, with many seniors seen in the halls lugging the boxes around. Such dedication!

Many students took advantage of the Senior Trip to the Bahamas, opting for sun and relaxation instead of the unpredictable Michigan weather.

Some of the Varsity teams did well this year. In particular, the Golf team, the Wrestling team, and the Swim team all did outstanding jobs.

Mrs. Talley sponsored the Senior Class again this year, with the help of the class officers, President Greg Buser, Vice-president Jack Lawless, Secretary Marie Tessier, and Treasurer Shawn Miskee, all worked long and hard to make this year a successful and memorable one for all.

With many new decisions and prospects looming before the graduates, Adams seems somewhat unimportant. But the memories and good times will not be forgotten, even as we all go our separate ways.

Three of the brighter stars this year were the co-saluatorians Doris Klein and Karen Barnes, and valedictorian Chris Mazzara. All three managed to maintain over a 4.0 average with Chris compiling an average of 4.1. As is typical of the people who traditionally lead the senior classes, these three young people were "into" more than just academics. They were actively involved in sports, clubs, and other extra curricular activities.

Regarding the future, Chris selected to attend a college in Pennsylvania at Haverford College, because of its small size and personal attention given to students. He hoped to make use of his scholarship to prepare for a medical career.

Chris mentioned that he appreciated the warmth and friendships he made at Adams, and also he thanked the faculty for the fine job they did in preparing him for the future.

ACTORS

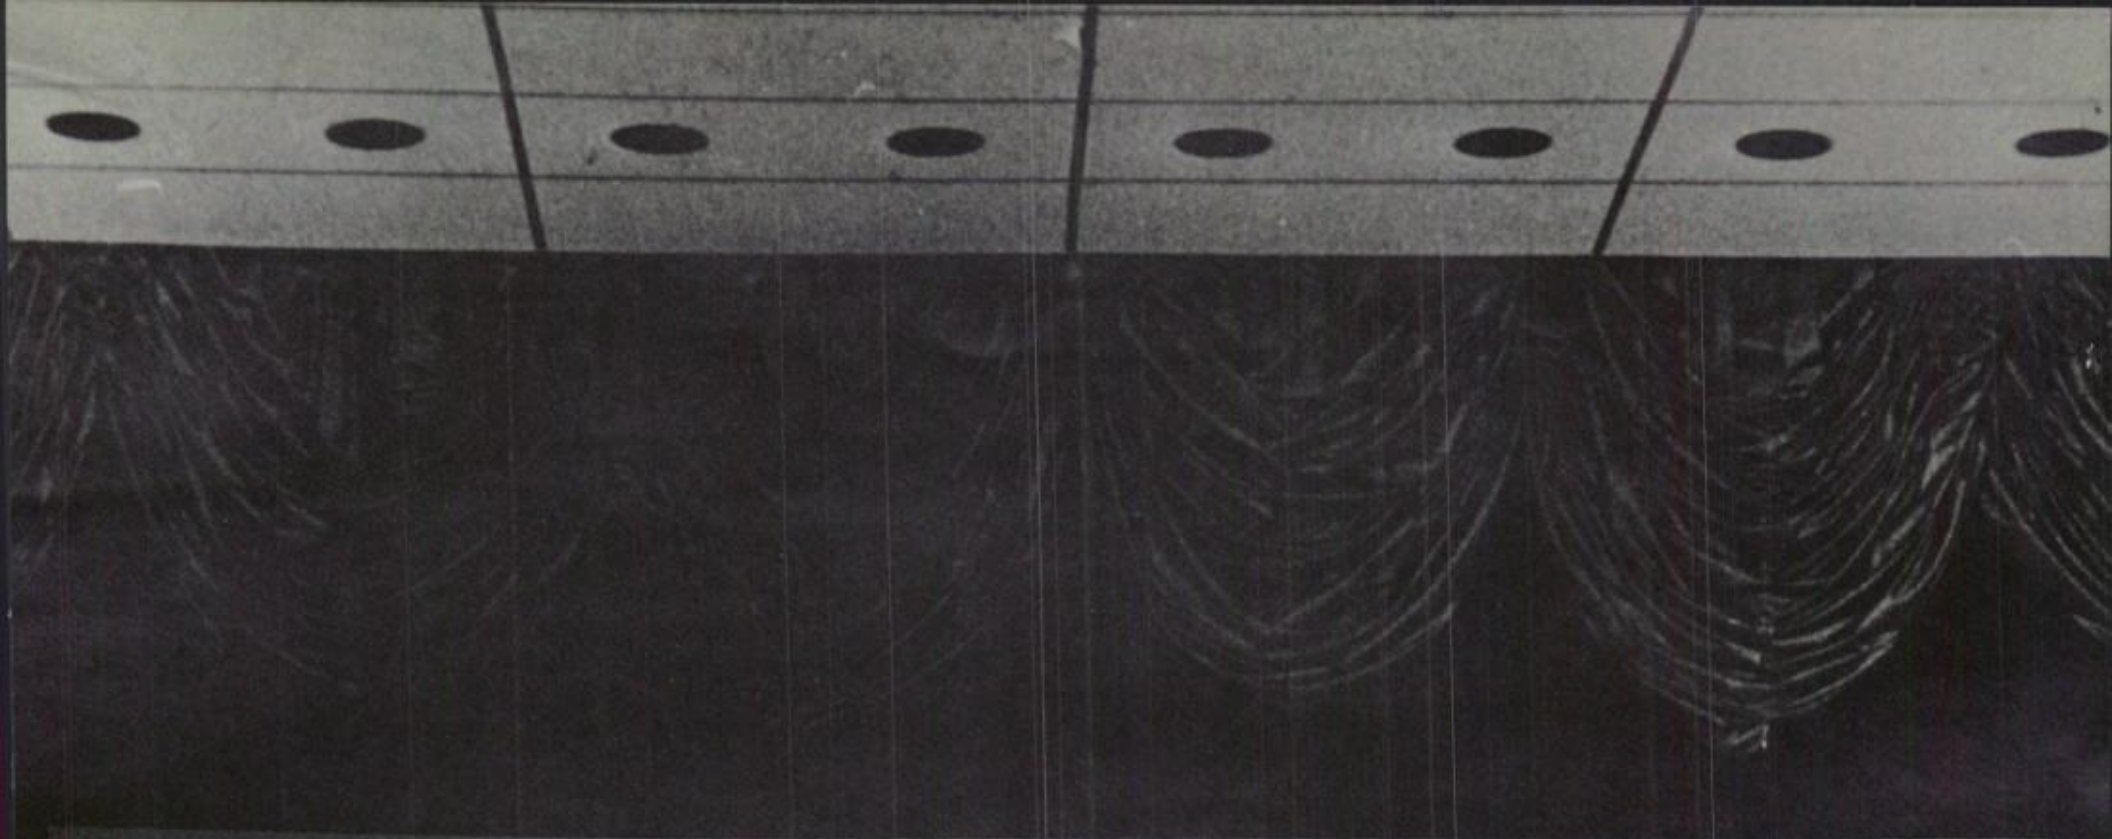

The Junior class kept themselves active throughout the 1978 - 1979 school year. During the homecoming festivities, the Juniors proved that they were the loudest by winning the spirit yell for the second time. Their float "Ty-d-bowl" took second place, and they also placed second overall in spirit week. The previous week the annual B.G. Bowl took place, with the Juniors playing well, but losing 16-14.

The Juniors, academically, did well in most respects, completing required courses, and scoring well in the P.S.A.T. test.

Big winners athletically, were Greg Manning, taking first place in the State Golf meet, and Kathy Krull placing second in the State swim meet.

The Junior class was advised by Mr. Bailo. The class President was Dan Hickey, Vice-President was Mathilde Brown, Treasurer was Jolayne Johnston, and the Secretary was Laura Meyer.

The Juniors have proven to be good leaders, and will undoubtedly lead the way in 1980, when it is their turn to graduate and make decisions about the future.

CREW

The Sophomores this year had the same fear of starting High School as the Sophomores before them, but they managed to fit right in with the rest of the students here at Rochester Adams.

Homecoming was not too successful for the Sophomores, but then they did not have the experience that the Juniors and Seniors had. The Sophomores came in third in all events, but they had fun participating in such events as, ice-cream eating, toilet paper wrapping, and cracker eating contests.

Even without J.V. sports, the Sophomores got involved in Varsity sports and showed the others just what they were capable of.

The class President was Mo McGarry, the Vice-President was Shelli Reidinger, the Treasurer was Rob Severene, and the Secretary was Brenda Barnaby. These officers worked stoically at coordinating activities and molding the students into the "sophomore class".

Meeting graduation requirements posed no problem for many of the Sophomores, and they now look ahead to their second year at Adams.

WELCOME TO HARD TIMES.

Tracy, I thought
Hewitt's class was gonna be a blast, but she had to go and move you away from the gang & now Andy, Steve & I. It's not just a must of our Sophomore & junior years, I can just imagine we should try to hold of one guy for our monkey falls — "we're LIVE IT UP!" Let's just say close friends & failed to do that so far. You're a very close friend & well... Time to get serious! You're a very close friend & Spunk! I can trust it always seems rather reasonable.
someone whom I could have alot of classes together be-advice from you, somehow I'd hate to forget what you look I only wish that we spread our own ways. Please keep in touch over the summer. I'd hate to forget what you look like on what was a beautiful but noisy sound like!
more was "OKLAHOMA"! I agree with your mom. We put in so much time & we get so little with glory out of it. Oh well
It was fun! I hope things last work out Peacefully
Dave & you, & things east with mark & you. Oh well
Good luck & Take Care...

Tracy,
 I'm really glad
 I got to know you
 a lot better through choir and the shows and spark. You're a really great person and I'm sorry to leave just when I got to be good friends with you. I really don't have much to say, just that I love this pen so much! Best of luck to you in your Senior year. Hope you have as much fun as I did. Good luck with Mr. Lentz and if you ever want to gripe, give me a call!

Tracy -

This has been a really interesting and fun year, hasn't it? We haven't shared too much of it (too many seniors) but maybe we can get together and get rowdy "next year - Alg. II didn't give us too much of a chance."

"Oklahoma!" was a lot of fun, wasn't it??

Good luck, Tracy, in all you do in the future. (I'll wish Mark, too. Isn't it great having a boyfriend who's "out of highschool"?)

See you next year (+ maybe even over the summer...)

Love,
 Jerry Johnson
